Tamarack Camps maintains strictly kosher facilities.

The kashrut (Jewish dietary laws) supervision at Tamarack Camps is under Rabbi Jason Miller, the agency's year-round rabbi and mashgiach (kosher supervisor).

Tamarack Camps prides itself on being a Jewish organization. As such, we are committed to ensuring that all Jewish individuals, regardless of personal observance level, feel comfortable with our level of kashrut to eat in any of our dining halls throughout the year.

Rabbi Miller now oversees all aspects of kashrut supervision throughout our agency. This includes our dining facilities at Camp Maas and the Butzel Conference Center. Our rabbi also serves as a consultant to our tripping program and outpost camps with regard to kashrut adherence. Rabbi Miller has trained privately under Rabbi Joel Roth, Rav Hamakhshir of the Jewish Theological Seminary, and consults Rabbi Roth regularly on all kashrut matters.

Questions pertaining to the Kosher standards of our agency should be directed to Rabbi Miller.
